

Annual Poultry Show Opens To-Day-- Richmond Bowling Association Organized

ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW OPENS TO-DAY

ONLY ONE FAVORITE WINS AT PALMETTO

Blue Winner Fowls From State Fairs and Recent Shows to Be Exhibited.

Every express coming into Richmond is bringing crates of the finest fowls from all the cities in the State, from Washington, D. C., North Carolina, Georgia, Maryland and other States, and the annual show of the Virginia Poultry Association, which opens this morning at 408 West Broad Street, promises to excel in quality of birds exhibited, all previous exhibitions.

Yesterday afternoon a consignment of fowls from the McFarland Farm, near Petersburg, arrived, and the W. H. Burton, D. C., show arrived and were quickly put on display. There will be more than 150 exhibitors, and more than 1,000 of the finest fowls ever shown here will be displayed.

Cash prizes aggregating $300 and thirty-two silver cups will be awarded to the exhibitors having the best exhibits.

Many of the exhibitors to be seen during today and continuing to Saturday night will excel the excellent exhibits at the recent Virginia State Fair as only the blue winners at the various State fairs and recently held poultry shows will be exhibited here.

There will be a small price of admission, enough to cover the actual expenses of the show, and the public is invited to help make this annual exhibition the greatest success in the history of the Virginia Poultry Association.

Breeders and fanciers will find much to interest and instruct them in this exhibition and experienced breeders will be on hand to answer any questions which may be asked.

BOWLING

The Admen won three games from the Times-Dispatch League last evening.

The Remington team made a clean sweep of the series with the champion Montelloles.

At the close of the second game, the Admen had up to date one single game and finished with a total of four games.

Montelloles, Captain Garry was high scorer of the contest.

Tonight the Admen meet the Richmond Lancers in the Richmond League.

The H. H. Burton & Co. organization on the Newport.
